TORCH MENTORSHIP PROGRAM

AIANY Emerging New York Architects & AIANY College of Fellows

PROTEGE APPLICATION for One-to-One Mentorship

Application Deadline: June 11, 2019 @ 11:59 PM

The TORCH One-to-One Mentorship Program is designed to empower Architects, both Fellows and emerging architects, by fostering symbiotic relationships which share professional knowledge, culture and leadership strategies from one generation to another. Through discussions and mentoring, TORCH offers a network for better engagement across the professional community. The program is the ideal opportunity for Fellows to pass the TORCH. This training and leadership program requires active participation in a mentorship setting. Emerging Professionals interested in participating in the One-to-One Mentorship ideally have proven leadership and a willingness to learn.

Program Overview

Each selected TORCH protege will be paired with a local AIA Fellow acting as their mentor for one year. The One-to-One Mentorship Program is supplemental to the Panel discussions in which FAIA mentors will be invited to share anecdotes from their career that have helped them become experienced architects. The 2019 curriculum will tackle the following important topics:

- Career Paths: What is your plan?
- Career Advancement: How to get there?
- Communicating Architecture: How to tell a compelling Story
- Community Engagement & Social Responsibility: Learning Leadership
- Business of Architecture: What they didn't teach you in school

Throughout the program, the mentors and their proteges are expected to meet in a one-to-one setting of their choosing to discuss specific professional goals while further developing and strengthening their relationship. The program benefits include an opportunity to be mentored by FAIA members. Participants will develop communication and leadership skills, advance professional skills, expand professional and personal networks. Mentoring should occur quarterly over a year and will entail, but not be limited to, the sharing of personal experiences, detailed guidance, portfolio and resume reviews, and discussions on personal career advancement.
